IDAHO SPECIALTY FOODS ASSOCIATION 2002

Idaho Specialty Foods Association was formed in 1988, as a non-profit association organized to provide producers of specialty foods, beverages and related industries, the benefits of networking, cooperative marketing, information, and support to new and existing small businesses. To ensure product quality and public safety, our members are required to produce their products in certified facilities and to carry liability insurance.

Idaho is a Rocky Mountain state with exciting scenery and enormous natural resources. The popular name for Idaho is the Gem State due to the many valuable minerals found throughout the state. The newest found gems are the Idaho Specialty Food Producers. The diversity of climate and people means a myriad of Idaho items produced in our own backyard and sold throughout the world.

We publish this membership directory, hold annual state product competitions for our members, host an annual tri-state conference with Washington and Oregon, designate June as Specialty Foods Month, attend trade shows, and most importantly, lend a hand to new and growing businesses. We depend financially on our annual dues from members of ISFA.

Associate Membership

Associate Members are comprised of companies, organizations and individuals that are directly involved in the specialty food industry even though they do not produce food products themselves. Associate members are vital to the specialty food industry for the knowledge and support they give to the producers. Without them, the producing members would have great recipes but no containers, labels, places to produce or sell. Associate members help producers share their wonderful products with the rest of the world.
